YEAR-ROUND CAMPUS AT THE UNIVERSITY OF MARY

Join the University of Mary's innovative Year-Round Campus (YRC) program to complete your bachelor's degree in 2.6 years and your master's in four. With this unique program, students take one additional semester each year. This summer semester is not accelerated, and students continue to learn at the same pace as their peers, but with an extra semester each year to get ahead. YRC students have special opportunities for study, activities, and travel during the summer semester, along with generous breaks for visits back home.

The University of Mary accepts qualified, deserving new students each summer into YRC. If you are accepted, the YRC fellowship includes:

- Reduced cost for room, a rate one-third less than you'd pay in fall and spring.
- An additional semester on the previous academic year's rate for tuition, meaning you're paying less for your education. And, financial aid and scholarships follow you into the summer semester. It is the most affordable way to get an already-affordable University of Mary education.
- A vibrant experience in the North Dakota summer, with visiting scholars from other universities, hiking in the Badlands, and sunny days with almost no humidity.

- At the end of your bachelor's degree, YRC fellows receive the first class of your master's degree free, if you choose to continue on following graduation.
